THE STUDENT OF 1965 IS

Laughter is always present in the curriculum of the North Syracuse student. This laughter lights the way into the mysterious depths of knowledge. With the leadership of qualified instructors, the student's advancement into these depths will continually enlarge and broaden his education.

The faculty at North Syracuse strives to help the minds of its students keep searching — and constantly inquisitive.

Rod,
You've been a great guy in the past year although you seem sort of bashful about ~~[illegible]~~ sports like for instance tennis. But you're really a great kid and I hope to see you out there trying this summer. I'll be seeing you next year anyway so until then, Best of Luck, Bill

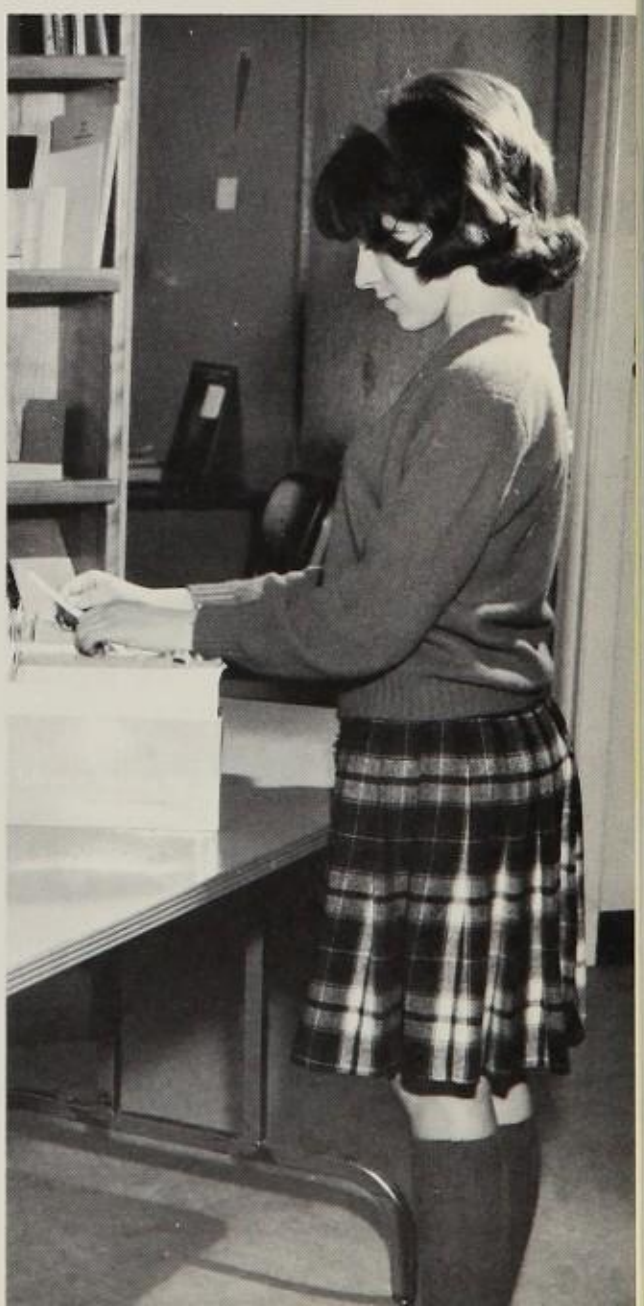
Guidance Promotes an Adjustment to School

The part our guidance counselors play in our lives is evident not only during our school years, but is present in our actions after our formal schooling ends.

Every student, whether he be a sophomore, junior, or senior, has problems which confront him during his school years. The counselors in the guidance office are always willing to devote a portion of their time to discuss these problems with the student individual.

The guidance counselors make available to the student many informative pamphlets concerning colleges and college entrances. College placement and high school scheduling are also important services of the counselors.



English Trains Us for Effective Communication

North Syracuse is equipped with a highly exceptional English Department.

From his sophomore year to his senior year the student at North Syracuse is exposed to the many elements of English. From tragic "Julius Caesar" to light and humorous "Huckleberry Finn" the department strives to add variety to the reading background of the student.

The art of composition is very important in life. Our English Department is dedicated to the cause of exposing us to the many facets of our English language.

Social Studies Provides an

The problems of the past world, plus the crisis that confronts the world today are subjects that test the minds of our Social Studies Department.

The Social Studies Department takes the mind of the student and relives in it the factual happenings of the past. Since the youth of today will lead the world of tomorrow the Social Studies teachers always inform the student of the world situations.

Since the world is not all social, the Social Studies Department introduces the student to the geological and physical patterns of our world, too.

Although we were, many times, faced with a difficult assignment or a twenty-page term paper, these helped broaden our education and served as practice for such assignments we will meet in higher education.

Mathematics incorporates the one trait that differentiates us from common animals; this is the power to reason.

The Math Department at North Syracuse forces us to use this power to its fullest extent. Through their careful and explicit directions, the world of mathematics unfolds before us. Many times a difficult problem has taxed our power to reason, yet the math instructors have encouraged our reasoning powers and our wealth of knowledge to solve it.

This encouragement serves as a lesson for future problems. Thus, the influence of the math instructors serves us through life.

Science Challenges the Young Adult

Our Science Department firmly believes that science is not, solely, a factual form of education. Involved in science is a certain element of student participation.

Whether the science be biology, physics, or chemistry, student participation plays an important part in the learning process. Students are found dissecting frogs, wading in ripple tanks or holding their noses from some acrid chemical.

Our Science Department offers science as both fun and information. They strive to combine both these elements into a course the student will never forget.

Training for

Agriculture

Often the doings of the Agricultural and Industrial Arts Departments are overshadowed by those of other departments. This, however, does not indicate that the curriculum offered is less important. To the students enrolled, these courses are as important and as influential as biology is to a science major.

A student wishing to enter into the field of agriculture is lead, ably, through the various courses that will further develop his knowledge of the subject. One unusual example is the building and actual usage of the greenhouse pictured below.

If a student chooses the industrial arts program, he may rest assured that our fine faculty will guide him through his studies, leaving him with a wealth of knowledge that can be applied in later life. Courses are varied as the students' individual craving for knowledge differs. Such variety aids background and experience to the high school students.

Tomorrow

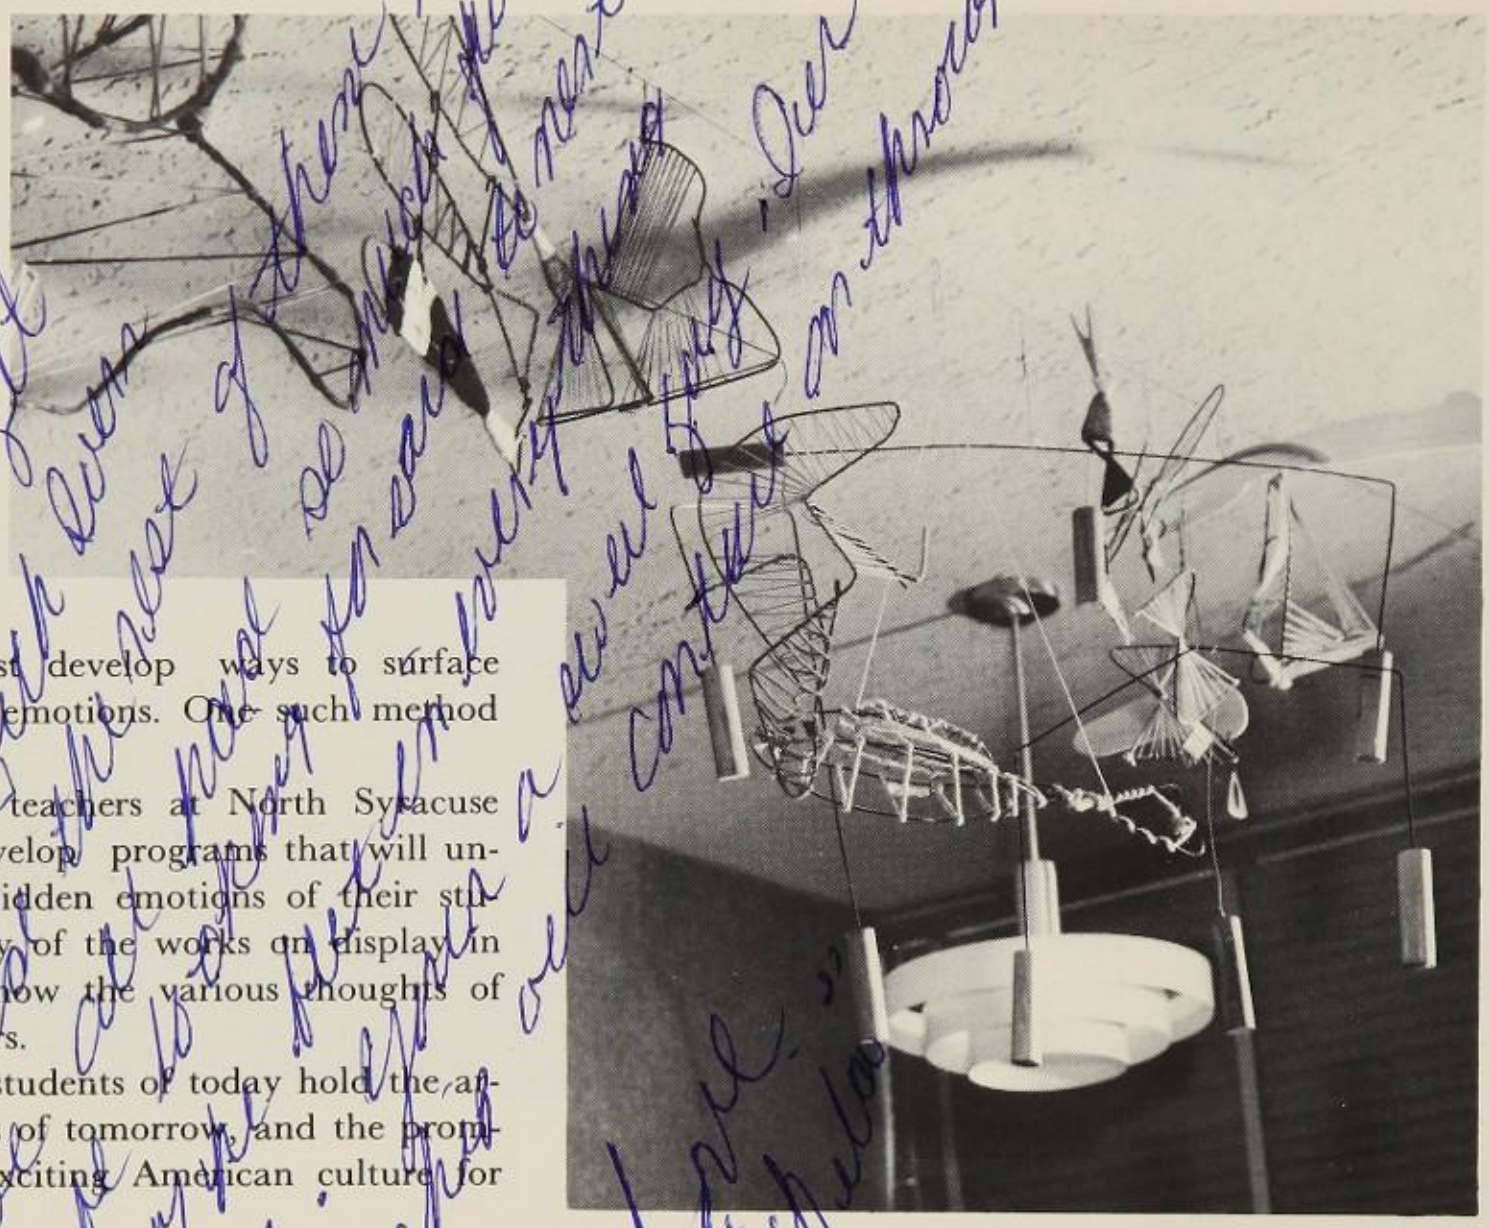
ART



Man must develop ways to surface his inward emotions. One such method — is in Art.

The Art teachers at North Syracuse strive to develop programs that will uncover the hidden emotions of their students. Many of the works on display in the foyer show the various thoughts of their creators.

The Art students of today hold the artistic talents of tomorrow, and the promise of an exciting American culture for the future.

Developing Our

Mr. DeAngelo, Mr. Ivers.

Language

In today's cosmopolitan society one must be equipped to converse in the languages of other countries. Our language department prepares us for this purpose.

Not only is knowledge of the foreign language important, but the history and cultural background of the country is also explained. Interesting movies, tapes, and slides aid the teacher in explaining how the citizens of the country live in their environment. With the complete language program offered at North Syracuse, and the expert guidance of our qualified staff, the student is given a vivid picture of the foreign society and language.

Business

Today's world incorporates a vast number of machines for work. One of the purposes of our Business Department is to train students about the environment of our mechanized society.

Students are schooled in typing, shorthand and notehand. These courses not only help the business-bound student but also provide a useful education to the student who intends to enter college.

The Business Department offers not only classroom education but also the opportunity for some students to work in the bookstore. Here the student encounters realistic situations and acquires experience that will aid him in his future business work.

The Sounds of Music

Each year more and more students become interested in music. Music has many different facets. There is the vocal aspect of music, and there is the instrumental and theoretical side of music. The program at North Syracuse has expanded to include all these faces of music.

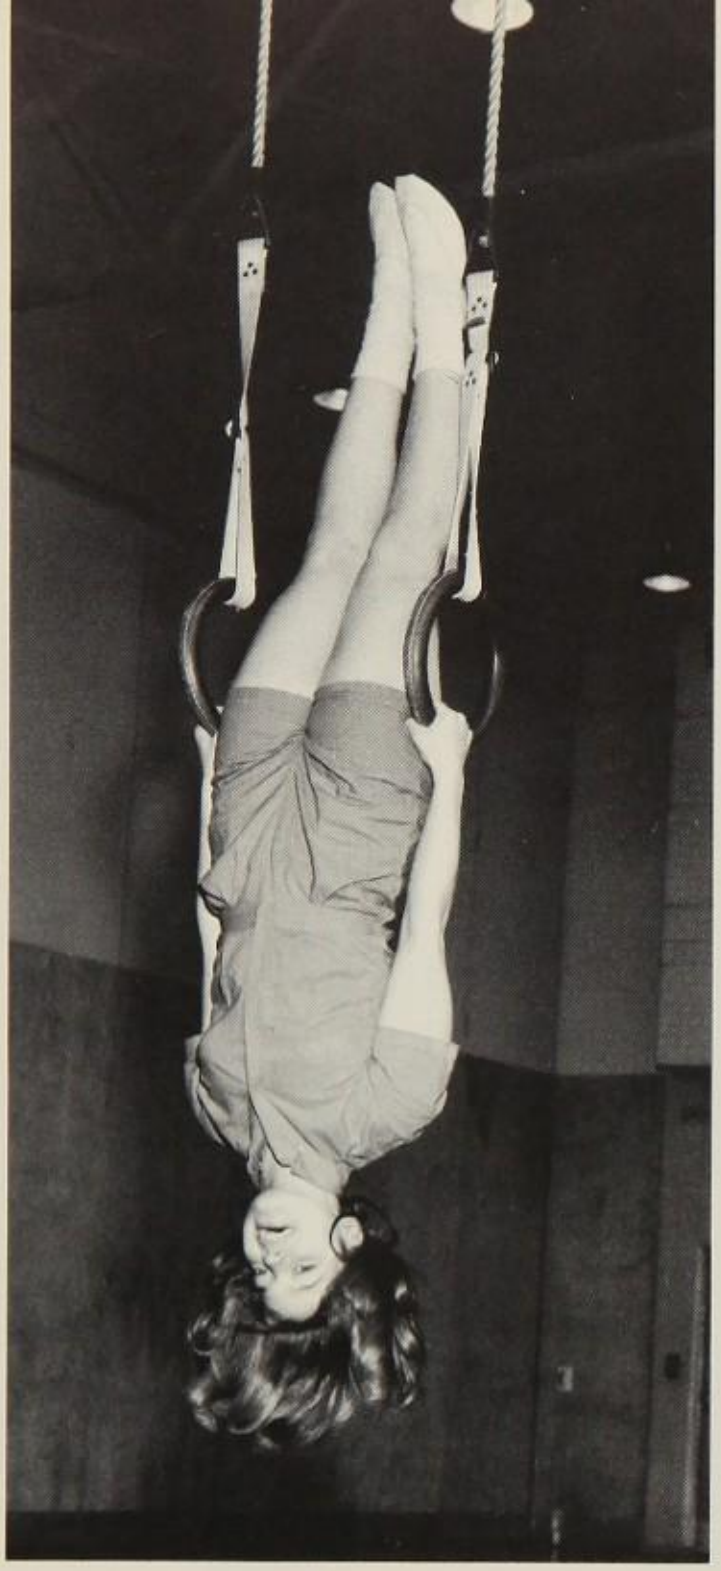
A wide and varied selection of courses confronts the student wishing to enter the world of Music at North Syracuse. He or she may join any of five vocal groups and our bands offer chances for instrumentalists to show their talents. Classes in musical theory and conducting are also offered to students interested in the components of music.

For those who like music yet are unable to participate, the Music staff sponsors a number of concerts each year. These performances give the members of the groups a chance to display their developed talents. They also provide listening pleasure for all.

Vocal lessons are offered to students who wish to develop their talents.

Instructions for Instrumentalists are also offered.

ROW 1: Mr. Sperti, Mr. Haag, Mrs. Eggleston, Mr. Kozuta.



Physical Education

Physical Education is not devoted solely to the purpose of developing the human body. Our Physical Education department also encourages students to strengthen their sportsmanship and adopt new leadership qualities.

To allow these portions of our character to surface, our Physical Education department offers a varied curriculum to the student. From football to cross-country and from baseball to archery, virtually every interest is covered.

A strong intramural agendum is also being indoctrinated into the schedule, such as volleyball, basketball and football which are available to interested students.

The physical education instructors are advisors for our competitive sports, and their influence is evident in our fine records.

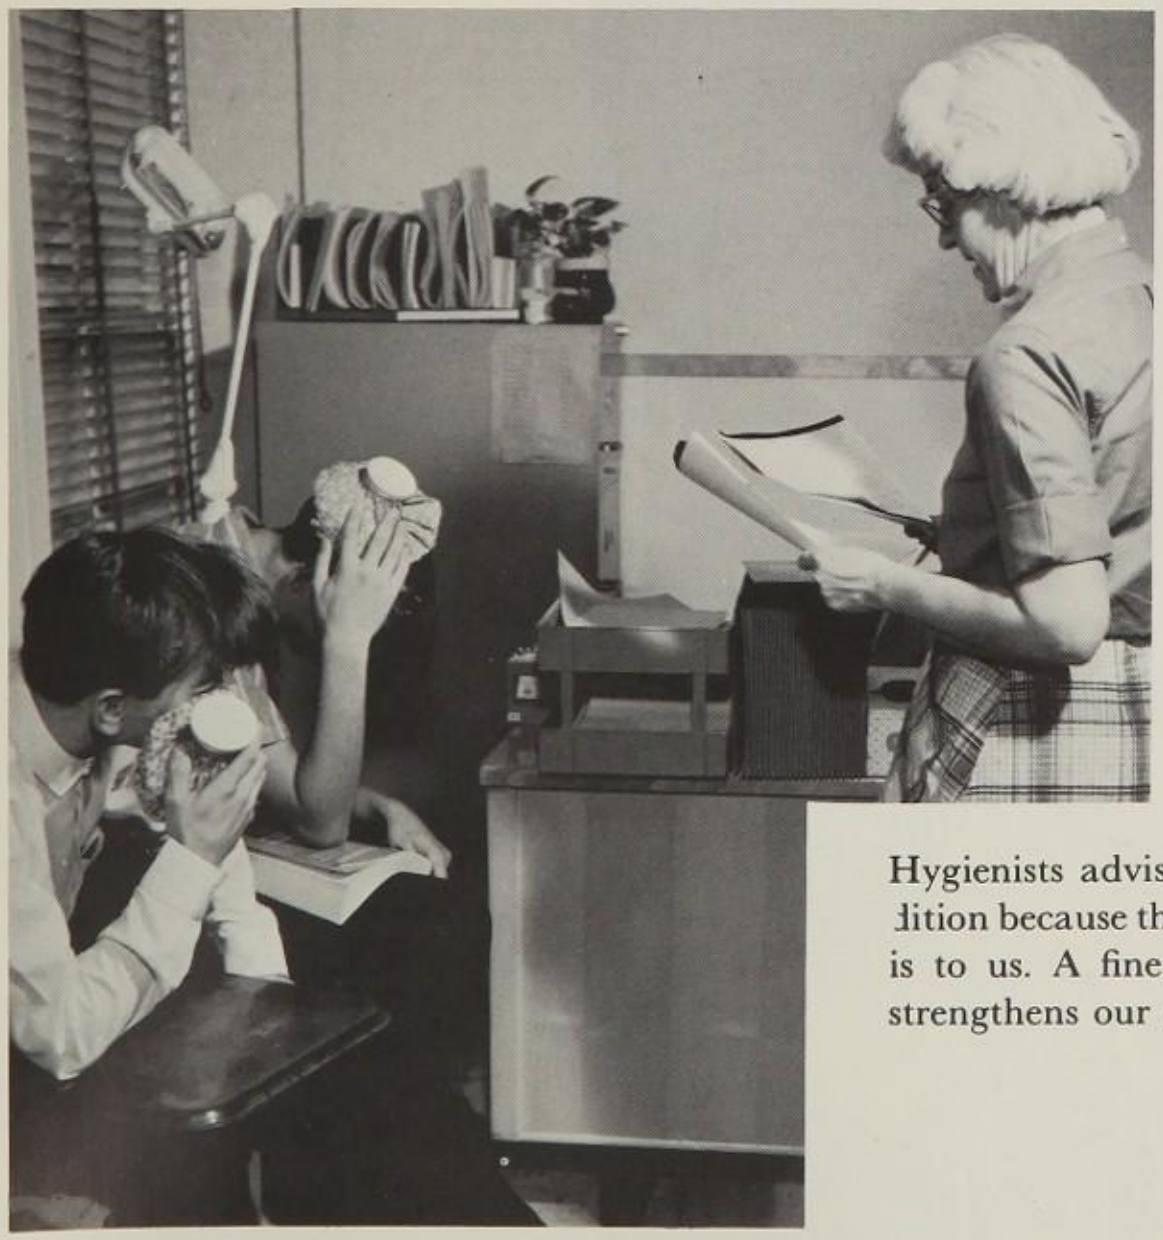
Librarians

The library contains a vast supply of knowledge. Our problem is usually finding it.

It is here where the librarian is essential. Her patient guidance aids us in discovering the details we need that are buried in the immense reservoirs of our reference library.

Another purpose of the librarian is to make the library interesting and cheerful. A casual atmosphere usually promotes clear and careful thought. Our librarians create such a mood yet keep order and quiet in the study rooms.

Mrs. Simeone, Miss Beehner.



Nurses & Dental Hygienists

Good health is directly proportional to performing well in school work and extracurricular activities. Our nurses strive to keep us in good health by helping our every day qualms and with a yearly physical. Our Dental Hygienists advise us to keep our teeth in perfect condition because they know how important our oral health is to us. A fine smile brightens our appearance and strengthens our confidence.

ROW 1: Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. McMahon, Miss Devine. ROW 2: Miss Hiller, Mrs. Smoke, Miss McLaughlin.

Preparing for the

The concept of Homemaking has changed over the years to cope with the dynamic changes within the structure of the contemporary American family. The school offers courses which emphasize the attitude of the student as well as the ability to perform specific duties. Such courses as Foods, Clothing Construction, and skill in Child Care contribute to the development of mature attitudes and acceptance of adult responsibilities. The aesthetic values of the family home are combined with the economics of Home Management in courses designed to bring the experiences which will be encountered in the future into the present.

The combination of all these ingredients produces what we believe to be a practical as well as a stimulating approach to the interpersonal relationships of the family.

Future

Board of Education & P.T.S.A.

Many of us do not fully realize how important the Board of Education is. The Board votes on whether issues should be placed before the public for voting. Also it has jurisdiction in voting for or against a tax supported issue. Any bills must have the consent of the Board before they can be paid. The Board of Education and the P.T.S.A. are community responsibilities and the community must work for them to retain their existence.

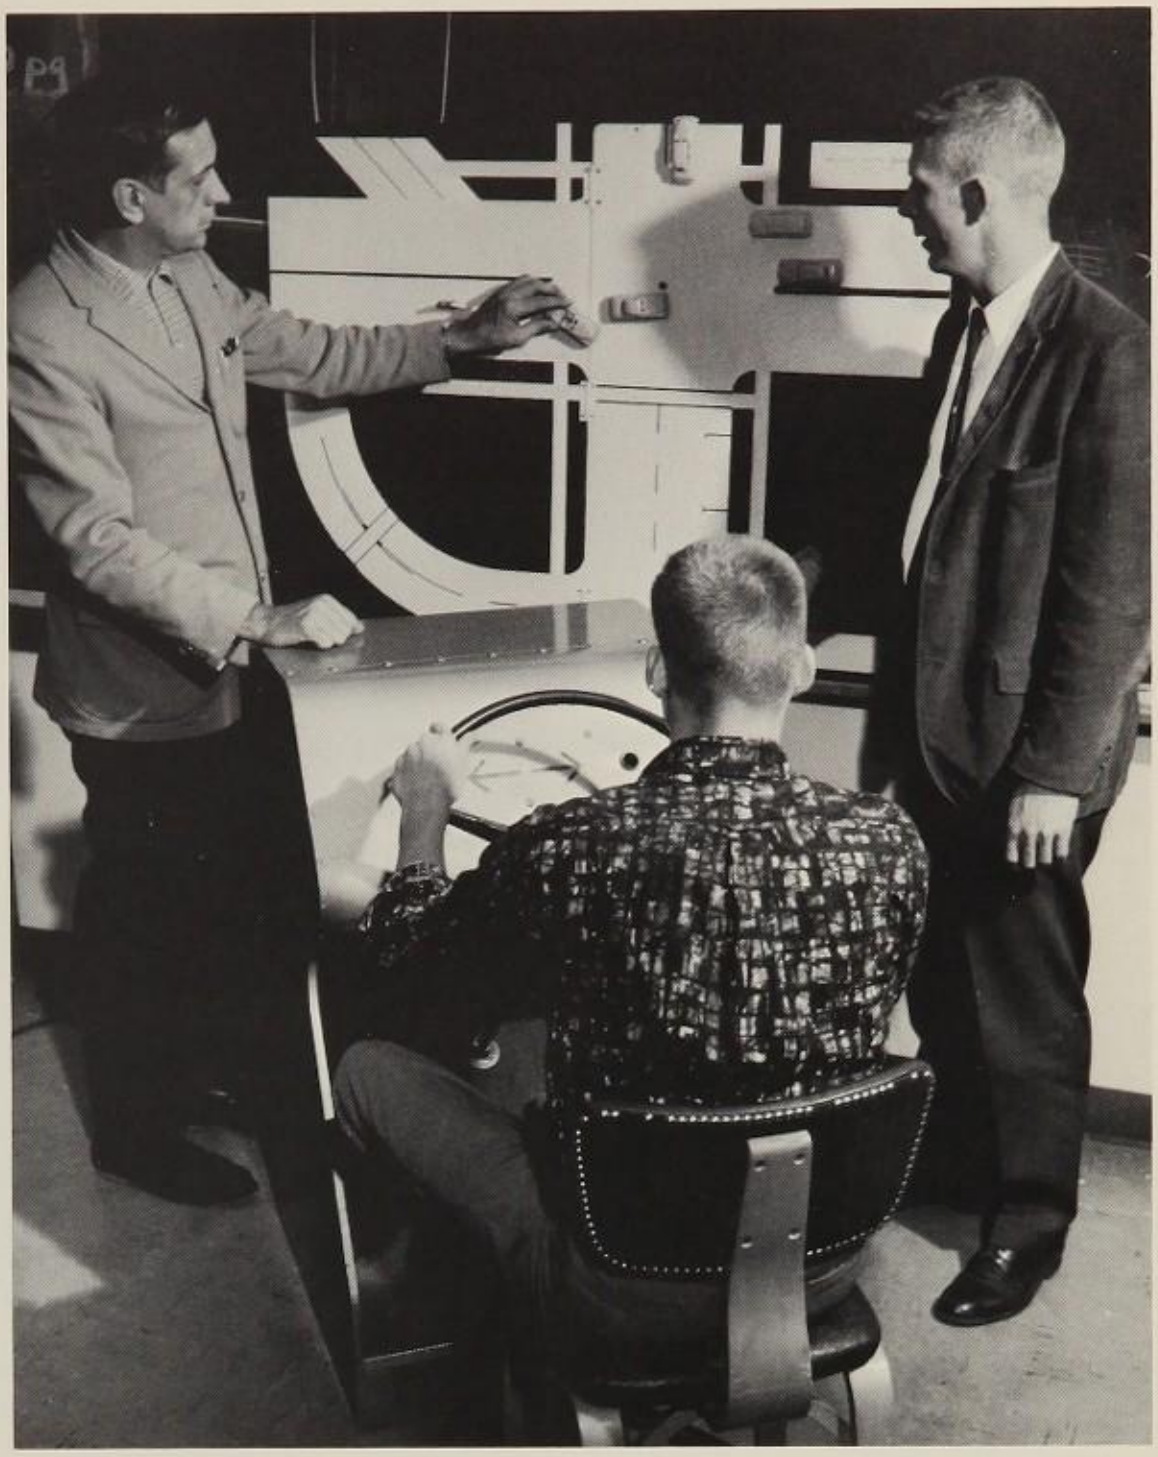
Driver Education

The highways of the United States today are overcrowded with newer, bigger, and more powerful vehicles. Therefore, the education of today's driver is very important, especially that of the teenage driver. In Driver Education a student is taught driving as a science: a science of laws and rules. He becomes familiar with statistics and learns how to avoid becoming one himself. This course should be a must for all young drivers.



Teachers: Mr. Dierks, Mr. Smith.

Audio Visual

Our academic program at North Syracuse relies not only on textbook instruction, but also includes slides and movies. Visual teaching is the latest technique in the education process.

We, at North Syracuse, are very fortunate to have the necessary equipment and the expert guidance of our qualified Audio Visual staff. They check projectors and other equipment for defects, and repair them if necessary. Also, the Audio Visual staff has the responsibility of ordering and delivering films to the correct classrooms.

The tasks performed by our Audio Visual staff provide us with the films that make our education interesting and varied.

Cornerstones

The custodial and kitchen staffs are the heart of North Syracuse. Without the services they perform, the school would be unable to function properly. Both the building and the students would begin to deteriorate.

Everything, animate or inanimate, tends to weaken under certain points of stress. When, in our school building, something gives under such stress the custodial staff is always willing to either repair the damage or replace the broken part with a new, working item.

Nourishment is an essential part of living. To keep our school "alive," the students in it must have well prepared, balanced meals. The kitchen staff strives to prepare nourishing meals that will also prove palatable.

Junior Cabinet and Officers

With a surge of spirit, the Junior Class entered the '65 school year. The first class activity was the Junior Dance, "Trix or Treat" which celebrated Halloween. The class Thespians next presented their Junior Play "The Imaginary Invalid." The comedy was a success and will be well remembered. The next Junior project was a class sweatshirt sale. The class of Trix now looks forward to their Junior Prom early this spring. With a fine past record, the class of '66 promises to be an outstanding class.

Mr. May, Advisor; S. Richards, Recording Sec.; L. Gelsomin, Corresponding Sec.; J. Zawadski, Pres.; E. Strom, Vice Pres.; K. Goessling, Treas.; Mrs. Supnik, Advisor.

PARTICI

PATING

Building, striving, and creating would be insignificant without enthusiastic participation. It is through active leadership in different clubs and activities that the student is stimulated to develop a special talent or pursue a special interest. He finds challenge in expressing his opinions concerning different topics and discussing those presented by his colleagues. He is given the opportunity to make lasting friendships and to gain many rewarding experiences. Participation is important in the building of a person's life.

Blue Staff

The Blue Staff of the 1965 Northmen Yearbook is composed of the editors of the main departments found in the yearbook. The staff tries to bring to the mind of the student, those events and activities which he has participated in during the year. A yearbook is a sort of memory book of the students' high school career. The Blue Staff hopes that this will be one yearbook which you, the reader, will cherish always.

Art Field Trip Club

Art Field Trip Club, headed by the excellent leadership of Mr. Ivers, caters to the student who has more than just a casual interest in the field of Art. Students who join, participate in trips to local art museums and art lectures. They learn to appreciate more the culture which is around them and receive a more well rounded education in the area of art.

Posters that beautify the school corridors and inform the student body of the forthcoming athletic events are designed by the members of the Publicity Art Service Club. They work hard to enhance our halls, while giving the students a chance to plan ahead on school functions which take place during the school year. The support by our students to school dances gives a true picture of the enthusiasm that the posters incite in everyone. Their activities during the year also include sponsoring a dance and an end-of-the-year picnic, both of which are always a large success.

Tomorrow's women will be called "Homemakers" rather than "housewives" and much credit belongs to the Future Homemakers Club of America for broadening the roles of wives and mothers. These girls will grace their domestic scenes for many years to come. This club helps prepare the high school student for the role in a household situation, while teaching them the practical application of the skills they learn from this club.

Library Club

The Library Club is a great asset to the school and the student body. Under the helpful guidance of Miss Beehner and Mrs. Simeone the student has the opportunity of working with people and gaining further insight in this field. Included in their activities are arranging an attractive and informative library display, locating books, and working at the circulation desk.

Latin Club

Latin Club this year is a very active organization under the supervision of Miss Roberts. The aim of this organization is to receive further insight into Roman customs, literature and other activities which are not presented because of the lack of time in the classroom. The highlight of the year is the annual Roman Banquet which is carried on with the old Roman tradition. In addition, the club also sponsors a dance.

D.E.C.A.

The N.S.C.H.S. chapter of D.E.C.A. is under the direction of Mr. Warren. It is designed to give its members a clearer picture of the retailing world by providing some of them with part time jobs and offering them the opportunity of coming in contact with people in this field. Annually the club also manages the operation of C. E. Chappell & Son for a day which gives the member individual experience and "know-how."

National Senior Honor Society

National Senior Honor Society is a very active organization in our school. It strives to serve all by the scholarship fund, clothing drive and tutoring service. The Honor Society won great respect at the conference at Jamesville-Dewitt High School this year, the many services which the Society performs for our school were recognized. Each year new members are admitted on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character and service. A student who enters the Society must possess all four of these traits before he is admitted.

International Relations Club

The International Relations Club is dedicated to two causes: to bring prominent speakers to our school and to discuss world affairs. The club is only in its second year, yet it has firmly established itself in both of these fields. The members of this organization debate the important issues of the day and acquaint themselves with all the facts involved. This is done with the aid of research work and movies. The club achieves these goals through the guidance of Mrs. Supnik.

Boys' Glee Club

The Boys' Glee Club, or The Gentlemen of Note, has entertained North Syracuse audiences well at many of our school concerts.

Mr. Haag has varied their program from lively folk music to serious works of high standing. Each work is prepared to provide both enjoyment to those in the Club and to those who will listen to it.

During the recent concerts this feeling of vitality was transferred from their singing to the audience, showing that the Boys' Glee Club is capable of splendid vocalizing.

Girls' Chorus

The Girls' Chorus is open to all Senior and Junior girls. Since both classes are so large, the Chorus is very selective.

The quality of work done by the Girls' Chorus is extremely high. This was shown in the Winter and Lenten Concerts. Mrs. Eggleston, their director, has made their program interesting and enjoyable to all.

Select Choir

The Select Choir strives to present to you the best possible musical presentations it can achieve. To do this, hard work and much practicing is necessary. By reviewing their performances at the Winter and Lenten Concerts, no one can doubt that they have reached this goal of quality.

During the spring the Choir worked on songs they planned to be judged on at Syracuse University. All knew that their performance would represent the caliber of work North Syracuse is capable of doing. A very good rating was achieved, showing that our program at North Syracuse is one of the best in upper New York State.

Many Sports Make

The fall sports of Football and Cross-Country bring out the stamina in the individual that works hard; J.V. Coach R. Tucci worked his team, constantly looking for perfection. The team had a good season but many injuries of the players curtailed the full output of the team.

In X-Country, the squad put out their utmost and ran away with the county championship. The successful season is attributed to their coach and diligent work. In the Section IV meet they placed third, winning even more pride for their school.

N.S. Cheerleaders

Spirited, spritely, and spunky are just three of the words that describe our NSCHS cheerleaders. The girls, after being selected last year, practiced their own special brand of yelling all summer. This year, under the guidance of their advisor, Miss Schade, they have continued. The cheerleaders' activities have ranged from sponsoring the Annual Pigskin Panic, the first dance of the year, to cheering for the soccer team as well as the football and basketball teams. All the girls are lively examples of the school spirit that everyone ought to have, and they communicate this enthusiasm to us every time they appear on the field or court.

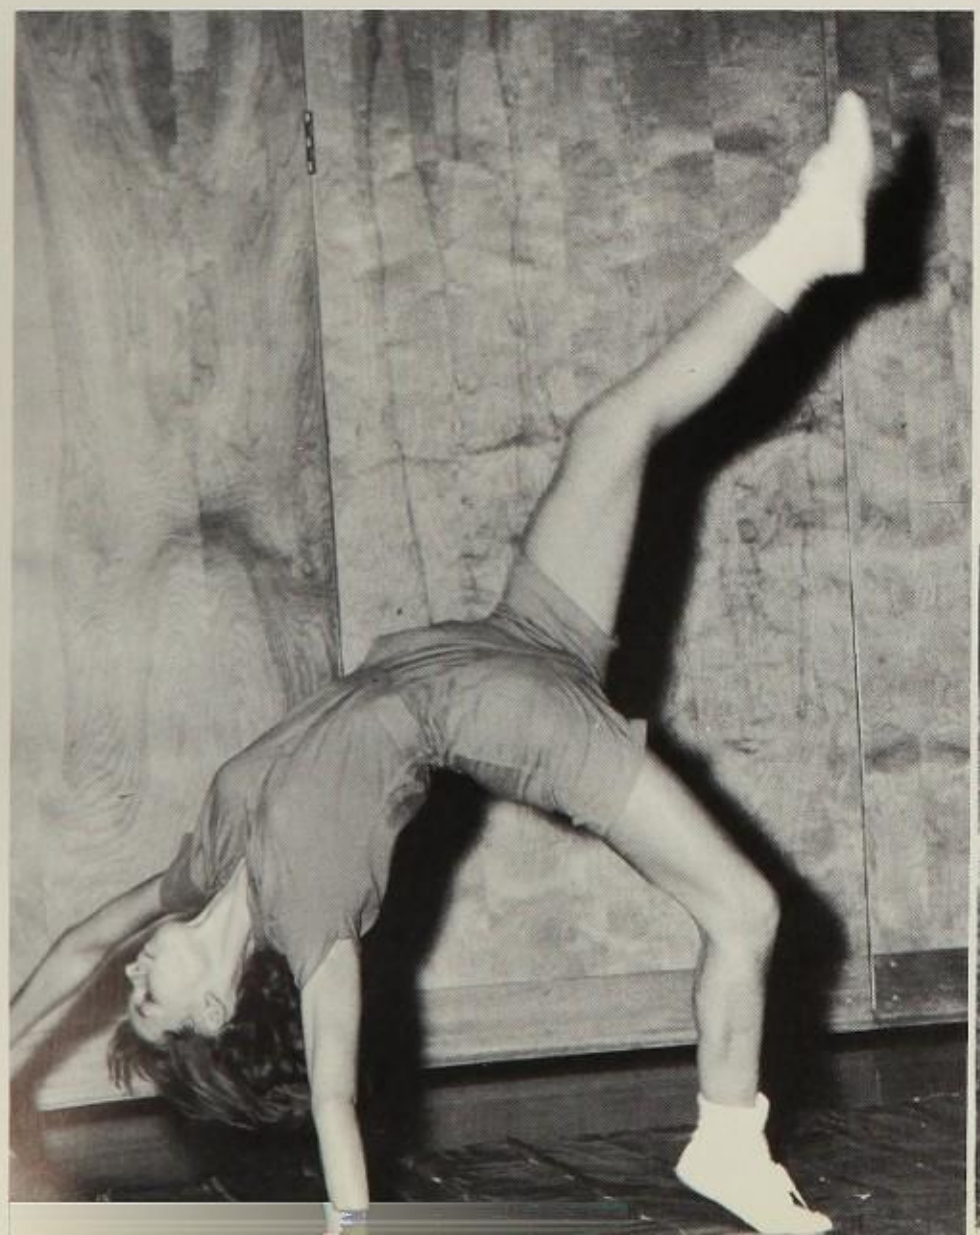
A Winning Hockey Team

G. Flanagan, J. Williams, K. Goettel, G. Brunet, M. Fielder, S. Moulton, B. Allard, S. Timmerman, B. Coe, C. Cooney, M. Gutosky, K. Sackett, A. Edwards, K. Krukowski, R. Smith, L. Roberts.

Our Graceful Gymnastic Team

D. Thompson, B. Butterfield, L. Riggs, D. Navin, G. Brunet, J. Merdith, L. Clary, B. Muschamp, L. Wiemer, K. Sackett, M. Zaleon, E. Schulze.

The guys at NS aren't the only ones that are gymnasts; the girls are, too! The girls' team competed in the county meet on the balance beam, uneven parallel bars, side horse, and in floor exercise. Miss Klaskin coached the team this year, assisted by Syracuse University personnel.



In a game that requires skill and stamina the NS girls' field hockey team excels. Under the leadership of Miss Klaskin, their coach, the team won 6 of 7 games. The team participated in a hockey workshop in the fall to further develop its skills.

CLASS OF

The imagination displayed by the decorations at the class dance, scenery and costumes of the play, and yearbook layouts, proves that the seniors at N.S., above all else, are known for their creativity.

'65 . . . CREATING

Our Cabinet through the last four years such activities as '65 Jive, Our Hearts Were the Moon, and Surfin 'Safari.

TURAN TIRYAKLIOGLU Cabinet 4; Sr. Hon. Soc. 4; Key Club 4; IRC 4; Soccer 4; Volleyball 4.

Turan Tiryaklioglu, our foreign student from Turkey, has been a welcome addition to the Class of '65. His enthusiasm, friendliness, and good will toward everyone have made him popular among his fellow students. Marmaduke and the Class of '65 hope that only the best of life is in store for Turan, and we thank him for having spent this year with us.

In June, when the Class of '65 will be looking forward to graduation, it will also be remembering two fellow classmates who did not have the chance to walk up the aisle with proud parents watching. We pay tribute to the memory of these well-loved members of the student body.
